(54) Title: SYSTEM FACILITATING COMMUNICATIONS AND FINANCIAL CONTRIBUTIONS INVOLVING FACILITIES AND RESIDENTS THEREOF

(57) Abstract: A computer system and method for facilitating communications and financial contributions related to a resident of a facility. The facility is used by an organization to support the resident. In one embodiment, the computer system includes a plurality of instructions which direct a processor operating on a network to: (a) cause a graphical user interface to prompt users to make charitable or financial contributions to the organization; (b) produce a plurality of outputs which vary with different patterns of inputs by each of the users; and (c) facilitate communications amongst the users and between the organization and the users. This type of computer system provides benefits to relocated persons, those concerned about them and the organizations which support them.
